Hi! We are aware that there have been problems with the hbbostonamc site. Most of these come from using older versions of software. We are in the process of migrating our site content and design to a current version of Joomla, and on a new server with better security. The migration is nearly complete, the HB Comm will review and then we can release to all of you. After we are on that, we can deal with the smaller issue s using our new tools.

Please be patient, and check back in a couple of weeks.
Gary
